

- init1.py
 - Python file that executes all the queries, modifies the database, and redirects/renders the html files
- index.html
 - Page where the user (not logged in) can view future flights and their corresponding status. This page also redirects the user to login, register, stafflogin, staffregister pages.
 -

Customer files:

- login.html
 - Login page of customers. An e_mail and a password are necessary in order to login
- register.html
 - Register page for customers
- buy_flights.html
 - Allows the customer to buy future flights
 -
- home.html
 - This is the home page of customers after they log in. They get to view their purchased flights, delete a flight, review a past flight, view their total spendings, and search for future flights to buy.
- spending.html
 - This is the page where the customers can view their spendings. They automatically view their spendings from the last 6 months and year. They also get to pick a certain time period

Airline Staff files:

- stafflogin.html
 - Login page for airline staff. A username and password are necessary in order to login
- staffregister.html
 - Register page for airline staff
- staffhome.html
 - Home page of staff members after they login. They get to view flights within 30 days, change the status of a flight, create flights for their airline, add an airplane, add an airport. It also redirects you to the following pages: view flight review, view most frequent customer, view report and view revenue.
- airplane_list.html
 - Page that lists the type of airplanes added by the staff in a table
- report.html
 - Page that outputs in a table format the number of purchased tickets in a certain period of time.
- frequent_customer.html
 - Page that lists all the frequent in a table customer in descending ordered
- flight_rating.html

- A page that lists all the reviews by customers.