Team Members :
- George El-Hachem
- Amine Slaoui

Amine mainly focused on building the backend. He wrote the SQL queries as well as all the Python functions that handled those queries and their respective data. He also handled the error and used Python print statements to debug the program. Whereas George built the frontend of the project. He used HTML and a little bit of CSS to create the 14 different web pages. When necessary, he also used Javascript to show data to the user. They also both helped each other when they faced a problem meaning that George would sometimes code in Python and Amine would code in HTML.
